MUNICIPAL ENERGY PROGRAM WORKSHOP

The Ministry of Energy will hold an Energy Management Workshop on March 20, 1986 at the London Chamber of Commerce. There is no charge, but will be limited to 40 people. This program is directed at building owners, building managers, and the like, that have over $10,000.00 per year in energy costs. Successful programs have been held in Toronto, Ottawa, Sudbury, and Peterborough. If you are interested and would like more information, please contact Mr. Ted Power at City Hall, 661-5543.

I think that the success members here don't mind the involvement of other people

ENGINEERING WORK

Engineering Week will be held February 24th through the 28th, 1986 at the White Oaks Shopping Mall. It will be co-hosted by APEO, IEEE and ASHRAE Local Chapters.

RESEARCH AND PROMOTION NIGHT

Ron Granger, Research-Promotion Chairman will present a short slide show on tonight's theme.

Director of Project Development

Our main speaker is Mr. Kenneth B. Scott, P.E., Engineering Director with United McGill Corporation located in Westerville, Ohio.

He was author of an article titled "Round vs. Rectangular Duct" which appeared in the October 7th, 1985 copy of Air Conditioning, Heating & Refrigeration News.

His topic for tonight: Computer-Aided Duct Design: A Method Comparison. Duct design methodology is certainly not a new issue: the pros and cons of various design methods have been discussed and debated for many years. However, recent advances in computer technology allow us to take a much more detailed and comprehensive look at various design methods. As a result, a very convincing answer emerges as to which method provides the best design from both an initial cost and an operating cost standpoint.
