Guest Speaker

Don Murray, P. Eng.

Regional Manager

Ansul Incorporated, Oakville

Fire detections suppression technologies must be matched to the needs and details of each building. Suppression systems range from portable fire extinguishers to complex engineered systems involving a range of chemical agents where there was a concern to limit damage to electronic equipment, halon used to be the chemical agent of choice. But in recognition of its ozone depletion potential, a worldwide ban was imposed in 1994. Since then, alternative clean agent technologies have been commercialized to address these fire protection situations.

President's Message

Fire protection is a fundamental component of all building projects. Those of us who work in the HVAC field need to know and understand the requirements for fire protection systems and how they coordinate with HVAC and other mechanical systems. I believe we will find Don Murray's presentation on April 27 will be informative and useful.

Please be sure to have a look at the description of upcoming changes related to collection of membership dues. If there are any questions on this matter, speak to any member of the chapter executive. Take a few minutes at the ASHRAE meeting to check out the table top display by Somers Environmental. We are taking reservations for table top display bookings in the fall.

MEMBERSHIP DUES - NEXT YEAR

As announced at the March chapter meeting, you will see a change in membership dues for the 1998/1999 year. Your membership dues will be split into two parts, as follows:

1. A basic membership fee of $35.00 will be collected by Atlanta. This fee will be assessed and collected at the same time as your society membership. You should see the renewal forms in your mail within the next two months.

2. In September, the chapter will collect a meal plan fee. This fee will be paid directly to the chapter in the usual way.

The intent is to use the $35.00 chapter membership dues to cover the basic costs of operating the chapter. The meal plan fee obviously goes directly to cover the costs of meals. There are several operational advantages in having the chapter revenues separated in this way.

TABLETOP DISPLAY - Lochinvar

This month's tabletop will feature Lochinvar High Efficiency Water Heaters, Boilers, and Pool Heaters, hosted by Daryl Somers of Somers Environmental Products and Darryl Singleton of Aquatech Sales and Marketing. Their display will consist of a light commercial boiler as well as product literature on all systems offered by Lochinvar. Please take the time to check out the display.
