

ASHRAE Honors and Awards – Opportunities for Recognition of Outstanding Achievements

Submitted by J. Thomas Sobieski,

2012-13 Honors and Awards Committee Personal Awards Subcommittee Chair

Each year, ASHRAE recognizes professionals who are making strides in the industry. Do you know that ASHRAE's awards fall into six categories?

1. Personal Honors
2. Personal Awards for General Society Activities
3. Personal Awards for Specific Society Activities
4. Paper Awards
5. Society Awards to Groups or Chapters
6. Chapter and Regional Awards

There are two important deadlines for submission of nominations to the Society Honors & Awards (H&A) Committee:

December 1:

Honorary Member

Fellow

F. Paul Anderson

Distinguished Public Service

Hall of Fame

Pioneers of the Industry

May 1:

Louise & Bill Holliday

Distinguished Fellow

Andrew T. Boggs Service

Distinguished Service (DSA)

Exceptional Service (ESA)

Distinguished Fifty-Year Member

There are other Awards, such as the E. K. Campbell Award of Merit, the Lincoln Bouillon Award and the John F. James International Award to name a few, that are recommended by selecting bodies other than the H&A Committee. Details such as criteria, selecting body, other deadlines, required documentation and nomination forms about all awards can be found at: <http://www.ashrae.org/honors> in easy to read text, via spreadsheet and PowerPoint format. If you need additional information, guidance and/or have a question(s), please feel free to contact Rosy Douglas at ASHRAE Headquarters, rdouglas@ashrae.org.

Are you aware that you can “self nominate” for the Distinguished Service Award (DSA) and the Exceptional Service Award (ESA)? Since these awards are granted on the basis of a point count for service to ASHRAE, you are the most knowledgeable person to determine your past services to the Society. Just be sure that your “bio” (ASHRAE Biographical Record) on the website is up to date and accurate (no double counts such as points for member and chair of the same committee for the same time period) and that your “bio” list starts and end dates for each activity.

Remember that members can only be recognized for services and/or outstanding technical achievements by the granting of ASHRAE Honors and Awards if members take the time and effort to make nominations. For forms and information, visit the H&A Web page at www.ashrae.org/honors.

Dallas Conference News

ASHRAE Conference in Dallas – Advance Registration Ends December 31!
